

Old People

This 75 year old woman had a vision one night, she saw and spoke to God. She asked him, "how much time do I have to live?" He said, "you have 35 years left."

So that whole year she had a ton of cosmetic surgery, she had a face lift, a tummy tuck, her nose reshaped, liposuction, she completely did herself over. She figured as long as she was going to live another 35 years she was going to look young again.

After all this was done, that same year she was hit by a car and was killed instantly.

When she entered St. Peter's gate she walked over to God and said, "what happened? I thought you said I had another 35 year's."

He replied, "I DIDN'T RECOGNIZE YOU"

A priest was hearing confession one evening when an elderly gentleman entered the confessional.

"Forgive me father for I have sinned. I'm 80 years old and have been faithful to my wife for all of 60 years of our marriage. That all ended last night when I spent the evening with 2 attractive twins that just moved into our building."

"Our God is a merciful God. Tell me, when was your last confession?"

"Never. I'm Jewish."

"Then why are you telling me your confession?"

"Are you kidding? At my age, I'm telling EVERYONE!!"

A man goes to visit his 85-year-old grandfather in the hospital. "How are you grandpa?" he asks. "Feeling fine," says the old man.

"What's the food like?"

"Terrific, wonderful menus."

"And the nursing?"

"Just couldn't be better. These young nurses really take care of you."

"What about sleeping? Do you sleep OK?"

"No problem at all - nine hours solid every night. At 10 o'clock they bring me a cup of hot chocolate and a Viagra tablet and that's it. I go out like a light."

The grandson is puzzled and a little alarmed by this, so he rushes off to question the Nurse in charge. "What are you people doing," he says, "I'm told you're giving an 85-year-old Viagra on a daily basis. Surely that can't be true?"

"Oh, yes," replies the Nurse. "Every night at 10 o'clock we give him a cup of chocolate and a Viagra tablet. It works wonderfully well. The chocolate makes him sleep, and the Viagra stops him rolling out of bed."

Martha and Chester knew each other from childhood but were in their nineties when they got married. They had to wait for Martha's mother to pass away first.

Back in those days there was no hanky panky before marriage so Chester and Martha were both still virgins. Needless to say Chester was pretty excited on their wedding night, having waited so patiently all these years.

However, Martha was very apprehensive as she had developed a heart condition and would have to tell Chester that they could not do it.

Chester is now sitting on the bed wanting Martha to hurry up. He detects a little reluctance on her part. Thinking that she is shy he sends her off to the bathroom to get undressed. When she reappears in her silk satin nightie he gets her to sit next to him on the bed. Not knowing how to get things started he pulls the first strap on her nightie.

She blushes just as red as her silk satin nightie. She is really concerned about telling Chester about her heart condition.

In the meantime Chester is looking at the first breast he has seen since his own mother's. It is hanging there down to her belly button; gravity having taken its course over some ninety years. He realizes her anxiety but figures she is going to have to be helped a little more. Now he pulls the second strap and sees the second breast unroll downward before him.

Poor Martha is now beside herself. She is going to have to tell Chester about her heart. With a quivering voice and mustering up all her courage, she says "Chester I have acute angina".

Chester says "I sure hope so. Your tits look like hell."

Two 90-year-olds had been dating for some time when the man told the woman, "I think it's time we had sex, don't you agree?"

And, so they did. Afterward, as they were lying in bed, the man thinks to himself, "My God, if I had known that she was a virgin, I would have been much more gentle with her!"

Meanwhile, the woman was thinking to herself, "My God, if I had known that the old geezer could really get it up, I would have removed my panty hose."

Two elderly women were out driving in a large car, both could barely see over the dashboard. As they were cruising along they came to an intersection. The stoplight was red but they just went on through.

The woman in the passenger seat thought to herself, "I must be losing my mind; I swear we just went through a red light."

After a few more minutes they came to another intersection and the light was red again, and again they went right through. This time the woman in the passenger seat was almost sure that the light had been red, but was really concerned that she was mistaken.

She was getting nervous and decided to pay very close attention to the road and the next intersection to see what was going on.

At the next intersection, sure enough, the light was definitely red and they went right through. She turned to the woman driving and said, "Mildred! Did you know we just ran through three red lights in a row! You could have killed us!"

Mildred turned to her and said, "Oh, am I driving?"

For his wife's birthday party, a doctor ordered a cake with this inscription:

"You are not getting older. You are just getting better."

Asked how he wanted the message arranged, he said, "Just put 'You are not getting older' at the top and 'You are just getting better' at the bottom."

It wasn't until the good doctor was ready to serve the cake that he discovered that the cake read:

"YOU ARE NOT GETTING OLDER AT THE TOP.

YOU ARE JUST GETTING BETTER AT THE BOTTOM."

An old man in a nursing home awoke one day and trundled down the hallway to the community breakfast room looking rather forlorn. Ms. Smith, a nurse, met him in the hallway. She greeted him smilingly and asked how he was this day.

Old People

Mr. Jones allowed that not all was well; in fact, his penis had died during the night. Ms. Smith knew that Mr. Jones was occasionally a little off mentally, so she merely replied that she was sorry to hear the bad news and went on her way.

The next morning Mr. Jones was on his way to breakfast again but on this day he was dressed in a coat and tie, and his penis was hanging out of his pants.

Sure enough, he met Ms. Smith whereupon -- although somewhat startled -- she calmly reminded him that the day before he had told her his penis had died and asked why it was hanging out of his pants.

Mr. Jones replied simply, "Today is the viewing."

Endearing, isn't it??

At Burger King an elderly couple ordered one burger, one order of fries and one coke with two glasses.

When they got to their booth, the man placed a napkin in front of himself and one in front of his wife, then proceeded to divide the fries, cut the burger in half and divided the coke equally.

A gentleman nearby noticed and offered to buy them another burger, fries and Coke.

The woman then said, "No you don't understand. We've been married over 50 years and all our life we agreed to split everything right down the middle."

Her husband then began eating, as she sat with her hands in her lap.

The gentleman nearby noticed and asked the lady why she wasn't eating.

She replied, "As I said before, we split everything right down the middle, and it's his day to use the teeth first."

An old man and old woman met after both became residents at a retirement home. They began to get pretty friendly, and really enjoyed each others company. After about 3 weeks of getting to know each other, the old man said to the woman, "I know we are both old and can't do much sexually anymore, but if I pulled out my penis, would you hold it?" The woman did not see what that would hurt, so she said she would. Every day for the next month the couple would sit in the park by the lake and the old woman would hold the man's penis.

One day the man didn't show up at their regular meeting place. The woman became concerned and set out to search for him. Further down the shore she spotted him sitting on a bench, with another woman beside him. She walked up to the bench to find his penis in the other woman's hand. This upset her very much and she yelled at the old man, "We have been together for 2 months now, I thought we were getting along just fine. Now I find you here with this other woman. What does she have that I don't?"

"Parkinsons!", replied the old man with a smile.

SENIOR CITIZENS' LAMENT

Old People

Thought I'd let my doctor check me
Cause I didn't feel quite right.
All those aches and pains annoyed me,
And I couldn't sleep at night.

He couldn't find a real disorder,
But he wouldn't let it rest.
What with Medicare and Blue Cross
It wouldn't hurt to do some tests.

To the hospital he sent me,
Though I didn't feel that bad.
He arranged for them to give me
Every test that could be had.

I was fluoroscoped and cystoscoped,
My aging frame displayed,
Stripped, upon an ice-cold table
While my innards were x-rayed.

I was checked for worms and parasites,
For fungus and the crud,
While they pierced me with long needles
Taking samples of my blood.

Doctors came to check me over--
Probed and pushed and poked around,
And to make sure I was still living,
They wired me for sound.

They have finally concluded
(Their results have filled a page)
What I have will some day kill me,
My affliction is Old Age.

Some things to consider:

Old People

Are you feeling old? If not, consider this:

The people who are starting college this fall across the nation were born in 1980.

The Iranian hostage crisis occurred before they were conceived.

They have no memory of a time before M-TV.

"New Wave" is their PARENTS musical generation.

Cyndi Lauper, Boy George, the Pretenders, the Kinks, the Sex Pistols - are all old music they have heard of, if they have heard of it at all.

They have no meaningful recollection of the Reagan era. They were prepubescent when the Persian Gulf War was waged.

If they have heard the name "Oliver North," it was probably as a losing Congressional candidate, or perhaps in some obscure survey history text's reference, such as might be made to Huey Long or Teapot Dome.

Black Monday 1987 is a significant to them as the Great Depression.

Their world has always included AIDS.

Having not lived through the Disco Scare, they can romanticize the 1970s.

They watched "Star Wars" years ago, when they were kids—on video.

Atari predates them, as do vinyl albums and cassette audiotapes.

From their earliest years, a camera was something you used once and threw away.

As far as they know, stamps have always cost about 32 cents.

The oil crisis is history of which they probably know nothing — and why anyone WOULDN'T buy a suburban is beyond them.

So, my superannuated friends, why don't we all get together and feel obsolete over some Geritol Tea?

YOU'RE NOT A KID ANYMORE WHEN . . .

You can live without sex but not without glasses

Your back goes out more than you do

You quit trying to hold your stomach in, no matter who walks into the room

You buy a compass for the dash of your car.

You are proud of your lawn mower.

Old People

Your best friend is dating someone half his age...and isn't breaking any laws.
You call Olan Mills before they call you.
Your arms are almost too short to read the newspaper.
You sing along with the elevator music.
You would rather go to work than stay home sick.
You constantly talk about the price of gasoline.
You enjoy hearing about other people's operations.

People call at 9 p.m. and ask, "Did I wake you ?"
You have a dream about prunes.
You answer a question with, "Because I said so!"
You send money to PBS.
You still buy records, and you think a CD is a certificate of deposit.
The end of your tie doesn't come anywhere near the top of your pants.
You take a metal detector to the beach.
You wear black socks with sandals.
You know what the word "equity" means.
You can't remember the last time you lay on the floor to watch television.
Your ears are hairier than your head.
You talk about "good grass," and you're referring to someone's lawn.
You get into a heated argument about pension plans
You got cable for the weather channel.
You can go bowling without drinking.
You have a party, and the neighbors don't even realize it.

A father and son are talking about the fact that, as dad's been getting up in years, it's been harder for the son to care for him. He brings up the possibility of moving into a local nursing home, but the dad tells his son that he'll never live in one - "I'll die if I move into one of those!" he tells the son.

The argument continues until finally the son proposes a compromise: "Dad," he says, "please just try living there for just 1 day. If you like it, please stay; if you don't, then you can come back home and live out the rest of your life with me.

The father agrees and goes over to the home. The day is fine. That night, when the nurse is making rounds, she checks in on dad and finds "a tent pole" poking up through the sheets. So, she figures that she'll help him out and "goes down on him." Dad wakes up in the morning with a big smile, calls his son on the phone and tells him: "Son, I'll stay." The son wisely doesn't push the issue.

A week goes by and one night, dad gets up out of bed to go to the bathroom. Unfortunately, he slips and falls, injuring his hip. He's unable to get up by himself. He rings the call bell, but it takes an hour before a big burly orderly responds.

Old People

The orderly scoops dad up, throws him on the bed, pulls down his pajama pants, "schtoops" him up the ass and then leaves. Father gets his son on the telephone right away and tells him "Son, I want to get out of here right now!"

The son questions his dad, noting that "a week ago, wild horses couldn't drag you away, Dad. What happened?"

So his father tells him: "Son, I don't get a "woody" but once a year; but I fall down a lot!"
