

How much longer?
By
Jpearson (May 2011)

How many days must I live without you?
How many times must I feel this way?
How many nights must I lie without you?
I wonder if you feel this way?

How many lives have I met before you?
How many sighs have passed through these lips?
How much longer will I be without you?
I need to know so please give me a glimpse

Into your heart, your mind, and your soul
Darling, we all grow old
But it's so much nicer to grow old with you
Please say "I do."

How many roads have I driven without you?
How many trails have I trod all alone?
I need a map that helps me to find you
Without detours to send me off wrong

[Instrumental]

How much longer must I ramble without you?
How much longer must we be apart?
I'll keep working to get close beside you
And present you with all of my heart

And my mind, and my love, and my soul
Darling, we all grow old
But it's so much better to grow old with you
Please say "I do."